ABOUT

Throughout my 10+ years of experience as a Full Stack Engineer, I have specialized in designing, developing, and maintaining scalable, high-performance web applications. I have a proven ability to build clean, well-documented, and maintainable code across both front-end and back-end technologies, delivering secure, user-centered, and responsive solutions. I enjoy collaborating with cross-functional teams to solve complex technical challenges, but I am equally comfortable taking ownership of projects and delivering end-to-end solutions independently from concept to deployment.
